

map of SCOUTS CANADA - CAMP IMPEESA

Safety

Camp Impeesa is located on 52 acres of fairly rough wilderness.

This means that wild animals, coyotes, skunks, and insects, are a real concern. Coyotes have been regularly spotted in the area. These creatures have been known to attack small children. It is our recommendation that small children are not left unsupervised and should not be using the trails without adult supervision. Depending on the weather, ticks and mosquitoes may or may not be a problem. Please use bug spray and do regular tick checks on yourself and friends.

Emotional Support and Service Animals

We have emotional support dogs on site this year. While these animals fall into a grey area according to Ontario Law; we are allowing them this year. These animals must be in the care and control of their owner at all time, (that means no barking, and no jumping up) they must be on a leash no longer than 8 ft; and their owners must clean up after them. Please make it clear to the staff and other attendee that these dogs are integral to your enjoyment of the event and do not impede other peoples ability to enjoy themselves too; especially those that have fear of dogs.

If anyone is having a problem with these rules not being followed, please discuss it with the owner. If you aren't comfortable doing so please come get a staff member and we will accompany you. Failure by owners to abide by these rules will result in you being asked to leave. If anyone has been bitten by these animals the staff needs to know immediately.

Welcome to FOOL XIII

Lucky 13

Welcome one an all to Bryniau Tywynnog's annual hands on A&S event. We'd like to make some general announcements here. Camp Impeesa has worked very, very hard this year to improve this site and it shows. We want to continue to use this site, so please help us be good renters.

This is a DRY site. (This means no alcohol) Staff reserves the right to eject members that fail to abide by this policy.

No fire pits! Please use the communal ones marked on the map or your own raised one that leaves no trace.

Please take your garbage and recycling with you. Though there are bins on site, Scouts pays to empty them and they have always requested that we take it with us.

Water is potable; please be respectful of its use as we are on a well system. Taps are marked on the map.

ABSOLUTELY do not wash your dishes in the bathroom sinks! Margaret is willing to wash and dry the occasional dish and is willing to have you use the kitchen sinks when the tavern is not busy. The sink in Anniki is also available, when classes are not in session, for use in cleaning up.

We provide the toilet paper and paper towels. If we are running low or are out, please see gate, any staff member (we wear an orange high vis belt favour), or the staff cabin for more supplies.

Please do not flush paper towels or feminine products down the toilet, Many a backed up toilet has happened and that is not pleasant or fun for anyone.

Please field strip your cigarette butts.

What the heck is this design I keep seeing?

This is the official badge of FOOL it's called a cres-set. The staff felt it represents a search for knowledge, similar to a lamp. The base is red for Eal-dormere. FOOL seeks both mastery of knowledge with it's gold flames and journeyman and beginner knowledge in its silver flames.
